Police Commissioners Association of Connecticut Elects New Term Officers

North Branford - Two North Branford PCAC members made their town proud this week when they were sworn in as State Chairman and President by State Representative Vincent Candelora. Their term begins on July 1. The event took place in Guilford at the home of author Joanna Kelly with the Board of Directors and friends attending.

John Landolfi, a long-standing member, served as first vice president and president for several years. On Wednesday, June 24 he was elected chairman of the Police Commissioners Association of Connecticut, the highest ranking officer in the organization. Mr. Landolfi succeeds Peter Torrano of Norwalk.

Mr. Landolfi, 76, was business manager of Plumbers and Pipefitters Local Union 349 of New Haven, and served on various boards pertaining to the Pipefitting Industry. He is chairman of the Republican Town Committee of North Branford and also serves as clerk of the Police Commissioners in North Branford. He is currently teaching plumbing and heating classes at Eli Whitney School in Hamden, CT.

David Polumbo was sworn in as president. He is no stranger to the board of directors, having alternated between president and first vice president for many years. Mr. Polumbo, 49, owns Polumbo Trucking, D&S Realty, and started a commercial truck and equipment repair business, all in North Branford. He also is chairman of the Democratic Committee, Town of North Branford and also serves as Assistant Police Commissioner.

The police commissioners are from municipalities throughout Connecticut. Their mission is to provide a link between professional law enforcement officers and the public. They are dedicated to educating members on current law enforcement issues facing police departments in Connecticut.

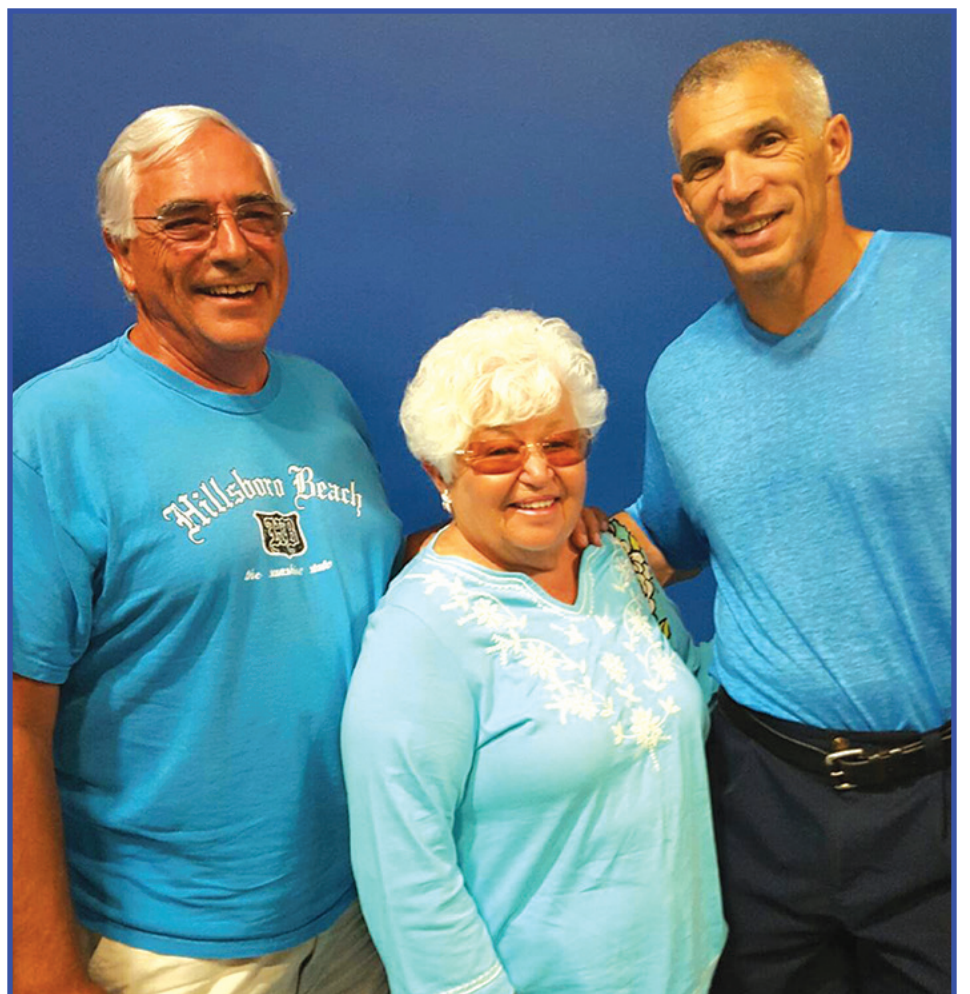

Both John Landolfi and David Polumbo would like to spend more time with the youth of Connecticut.

More than just a Quilt

"More than Just a Quilt" explores the importance of quilts as a form of artistic, sentimental and political expression during a time when the women who made them had very few means available to them to do so. Presented by Lorraine German of Mad River Antiques. Lorraine will bring examples of 19th century quilts from her own collection, as well as some period newspaper accounts of women writing about the importance of their quilts in their lives to illustrate her presentation. An accomplished quilter, Lorraine's own quilting experience has added to her appreciation of the art and of the women who designed and made so many quilts. Lorraine and her husband, Steve, are the owners of Mad River Antiques, LLC, specializing in American antiques from the 18th century through the early 20th century. The program will be held in the Munger Barn from 1 to 4 PM on Sunday, July 19th; donations welcomed.

Lovey Bunny Returns to the Shoreline

Kristine Lombardi returns to Connecticut for a two-event day on Tuesday, July 21st, to share her fun-loving book, Lovey Bunny.

Lovey Bunny is the happiest little girl around. She loves just about everything—her family, art, watching her mama make things, and especially playing dress-up. But when she borrows Mama Rabbit's new dress without asking and ruins it, Lovey Bunny learns that not everything always goes as planned. Will Lovey Bunny find a creative way to show Mama that she's sorry?

At 11:00AM, Ms. Lombardi will be at Breakwater Books, 81 Whitfield Street, Guilford, for a very special StoryTime to include a reading, book signing, and craft.

In addition, the Edward Smith Library, 3 Old Post Road, Northford, will be hosting Ms. Lombardi as part of their Children's Summer Program at 6:30PM. For more information on the summer programs and to view the entire summer schedule, please visit www.nbranfordlibraries.wix.com.

After a lengthy art directing career in advertising, Kristine decided to pursue illustration full time in 2003. She absolutely loves what she does and has recently added "author" to her title with the debut of her first picture book, Lovey Bunny. Her second book launches in Spring 2016. Ms. Lombardi also teaches illustration classes at the Montclair Art Museum. She is a member of SCBWI, CBIG and The Author's Guild.

Books will be for sale at the Breakwater prior to the events, as well as that evening at the Smith Library. This program is free and open to all. Please call the store at 203-453-4141 or stop in to reserve your seat today!

Let's Be "Frank"

Well, I have to tell you brother, I'm starting to feel much better. With the exception of some soreness in the surgical region, I actually feel better than I have felt in five years. Mom use to say, "All things happen for a reason," "The Lord works in mysterious ways", "God only gives us what we can handle", and a hosts of other things I always chalked up as crap. But as I think of it she might have been right. (Don't tell her if you see her)

Speaking of mom, I was in the hospital on her birthday and Mother's Day, so I missed my usual trip to the cemetery. I finally felt up to going and I was saying a few prayers at her and pops grave sight as well as yours. I once again recalled her means of discipline. She was definitely old school. As I watch my daughter give my grandson time outs, I remember my time outs. They basically consisted of laying on the couch until the buzzing in your ears went away from the slaps to the head.

I also remembered her always pointing out that you, my much older brother never gave her any problems. "Why can't you be like Anthony," she would say. "I never had to hit him".

Well for the 4th of July, we had our usual get together with Aunt Tess's family and I started to talk to a few of the older cousins about my life long guilt of always being the trouble kid and how she always had to hit me and you were the ideal child.

Well brother, there seems to be something you and mom never told me. When they were able to stop laughing after I told them of my dilemma, they informed me that every Sunday when we went over our aunts house, you would get a wicked beating for fighting or misbehaving. Being so much younger, I never knew about those beatings and it has taken me 59 years to find out that although I was no angel, neither was my big brother.

When I was in the hospital, they ran some heart tests just "because" and those came out great. So with that knowledge, I have tried to start exercising and yesterday for the first time in several years, I walked a mile. I thought it was five or six but we checked it out and it was a little less than a mile. I even kicked the soccer ball around with the grandson. Once again, maybe the old lady was right. "Things do happen for a reason".

On the political scene things will be heating up soon. In this issue, both the Democrats and the Republicans are announcing their meetings for nominating Town Council and Board of Education representatives to run in the November election. This is always an "amusing" time in the community. People who don't expect to get backed by their party have switched parties in the past, just to get on the ballot.

Some swear they aren't running and others swear they are. "It's time for a change" some shout but in the end, it's usually the same people filling the seats because once the "interested" parties see what it takes to serve on these boards and what the "rewards" are, they usually decide against it. It is much easier to sit and complain then it is to fill a spot and take on the responsibilities. Once again, it should be interesting. I know you use to love this stuff and for the life of me, I could never understand why.

The family is doing fine. SueAnn is finally catching up on some much needed rest after tending to my needs. Erica is enjoying the summer spending more time with Johnnie IV. Gina is enjoying a bit of a break from the hectic school athletic season and Frankie just started a new job which he claims he loves, at MJP Morgan in New York. Johnnie IV comes up with a new laugher every week. This week he told me I couldn't have a cookie because auntie says I have diet peepees. Once we stopped laughing we figured out he meant diabetes (we hope).

Well that's it for now. I'm superstitious and I'll end as I usually do with "I'll see you soon". But the way I am feeling these days, maybe it won't be that soon.

Daughter Honors Late Parents Through Scholarship

Recently, Linda W. Rankin of Wallingford presented the Arthur F. Wolfe and Astrid Hansen Wolfe Memorial Scholarship at North Branford High School's Awards Night. The following is the talk Mrs. Rankin delivered about her parents' involvement in North Branford.

"Tonight, I am here with honor and reverence for my father, Arthur F. Wolfe, and my mother, Astrid Hansen Wolfe, to present a memorial scholarship in their names.

Honor can be given or received. Arthur and Astrid gave so much honor in this town because they had high regard and respect for the history of North Branford and its people.

Arthur was a part of the town's law enforcement as a constable for many, many years. When the parsonage of the Northford Congregational Church was destroyed in 1944, a group of local men, including my father, organized and established the Northford Volunteer Fire Department Company #2 and built its one-bay firehouse. Picture the company's firehouse today! This same group of men, including my dad, planted a tiny evergreen tree on the center of the Northford Green. Arthur volunteered to be the person responsible for the watering and care of the newly-planted tree. Each day for several months, he pumped water from his own well into a fifty-five gallon drum placed in the trunk of his car and went lovingly to do his task. He honored the tree and IT honored him! The tree lit our Green at Christmas time for decades, but sadly, though healthy, it was removed a few years ago. Meantime, Arthur was a Masonic brother of Corinthian Lodge #103 of North Haven, worked as a carpenter, and helped whenever, wherever, he could.

Astrid gave in her own personal ways to North Branford. She honored all of us by working at the Red Cross Blood Drives for many years. Food Drives were part of her volunteer efforts to benefit the welfare of our residents. Astrid was an active member of the Women's Fellowship of Northford Congregational Church, which made blankets, baby clothes, holiday food baskets, and foods for the soup kitchen. Mom was a longtime member of a Danish Sisterhood, Freden Lodge #12, of North Haven. Mom founded, owned, managed, and taught for more than a quarter of a century at Little Folks Nursery School in Northford, the first in town. She is still remembered with love and honor by families of many generations. How often I hear, "Oh, I remember Mrs. Wolfe!" Every year, we put ornaments made by her students on our tree or enjoy items given to her by little ones and their families.

My dad and mom paid honor to humans, loyal pets, plants, and objects easily but always with good reason and meaning. Over the years, they received honor as well from people, animals, and even plants, which responded to their care, like our little evergreen! How seriously they honored one another, family, loved ones, relationships, our United States of America, the Stars and Stripes, and our rights of citizenship.

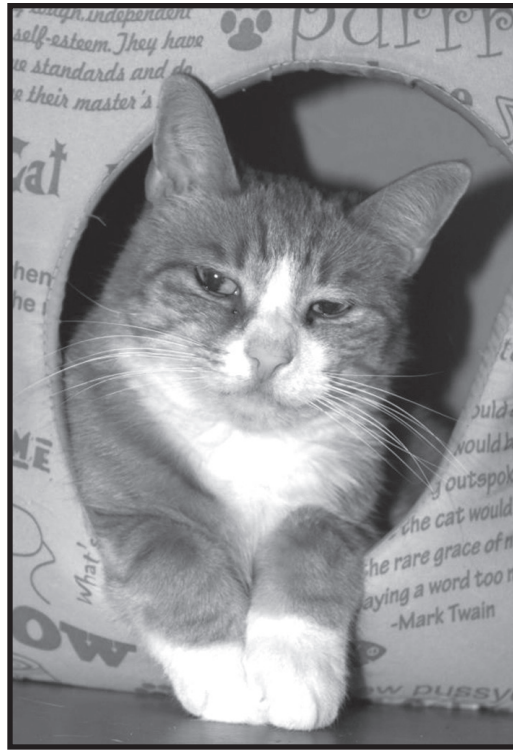

Now, what about us? I honor with all my heart my father and mother. Whom/what do you honor? Also, I honor myself! Do you honor yourself? You, the graduate? You are graduating soon from high school, accomplishing its requirements. Be proud of yourselves and continue on your journey, holding your head high but please remember, honor is received, which you are doing tonight, but it also needs to be given.

How can you give that elsewhere?

Congratulations to all! I now present with honor and respect the Arthur F. Wolfe and Astrid Hansen Wolfe Memorial Scholarship to Kyena Martone."

Miss Martone, a graduate of North Branford High School Class of 2015, is the daughter of Ruth Martone. She will attend Quinnipiac University in the fall, majoring in occupational therapy.

Author Joanna Leone to Speak at Sons and Daughters of Italy Lodge 2805

North Haven, Conn. – Local author, Joanna M. Leone, will host a nostalgic Italian "Tribute to Mama" and discuss her debut book "Slices of Life Italian-American Stories" on Sunday, August 2nd at 5 pm at St. Francis Cabrini Church Hall, 57 Pond Hill Rd., North Haven, CT. Socialize, rekindle and share heart-felt memories of Mama. The talk, which is free and open to the public, is sponsored by the North Haven Sons and Daughters of Italy Lodge 2805. Refreshments will be served.

Joanna Leone, a graduate of Sacred Heart University, has traveled throughout Italy. She immerses herself in Italian culture and remains close to her traditions.

The youngest of six children, Joanna often kept a journal and wrote short stories of family events. During her high school and college years, her writing and desire to remain close to her heritage and culture continued to grow.

Her book contains collective memoirs about Italian-Americans from Connecticut and throughout the northeast who share their family traditions, struggles, travel stories and special Italian-American memories. The book shows ways in which we remain connected to our traditions and the memories we hold in our hearts. It is a keepsake for future generations.

The North Haven Sons and Daughters of Italy Lodge 2805 is a local branch of the National Order Sons of Italy in America. The Lodge is a non-profit, charitable organization which seeks to perpetuate cultural identity and solidarity within the Italian-American community. The Lodge intends to embody the attributes of generosity and goodwill as well as sustain social and cultural vibrancy of the Italian-American heritage by uplifting human services, binding diverse historical Italian traditions and honoring the legacy of Italian immigration to the US.

D'Amico Attends Student Leadership Program

Marisa D'Amico, who just completed her Freshman year at North Branford High School, is one of 50 student leaders from across New England who attended the Coalition for the Advancement of Student Activities' Student Leadership Training Program at Nichols College in Dudley, MA the week of July 7th.

The Student Leadership Training Program sponsors leadership conferences for adults and student leaders. The conferences are intense five day workshops which bring together student leaders for all over the United States and Canada. The conferences are designed to increase self understanding and confidence; foster development of leadership skills; to improve communication skills; and to define the role of student leaders.

This is a "hands-on" experience, as the student leaders are involved in a practical laboratory style experience. The coalition for the Advancement of Student Activities sponsors SLTP and is a non-profit organization formed by student activity advisers to develop leadership education. The SLTP was founded in 1990 and since that time over 13,000 student leaders have attended the program.

This will be Marisa's first leadership training experience. Marisa is a member of the North Branford High School Cheer team, a member of the Gay-Straight Alliance and a member of the Drama Club. She recently received the excellence in World History award.

Marisa enjoys dance and reading in her spare time. Marisa was recommended to SLTP by her science teacher, Lauren Ziccardi because she demonstrates inclusive behaviors among her peers and she will be able to continue to develop her skills in communication, problem solving, time management, goal setting, conflict resolution, team building self awareness, self assertiveness, situational leadership and so many more.

North Branford Fire Department Attention Owners of Buildings With Knox Boxes

Over the last 15 years, many businesses in town have cooperated with the North Branford Fire Department by agreeing to install locked key boxes (Knox is the brand the Nbfd uses) to their buildings. These locked key boxes allow Nbfd personnel to enter the premises when they are unoccupied to investigate activated fire alarms or other emergencies that we are dispatched to the location for. Buildings without these locked key boxes may require us to employ damaging forcible entry procedures so that we can rule out that a fire alarm is not an actual fire, but rather simply dust in a smoke head. If it is an actual fire, the time eliminated by having immediate access to the structure can mean the difference between a minor fire and significant fire, smoke and water damage.

Recently, we were dispatched to an unoccupied location with a Knox locked key box. We were, however, unable to access the structure because the correct keys were not in the box. The locks had been changed – as is typical for retail spaces when businesses change – but new keys were not placed in the locked key box. We recently also responded to an alarm activation at another location that had switched from traditional keys to a FOB system – without putting a FOB in the locked key box. In recent years, if you have changed the locks on any of the occupancies at a building where a Knox locked key box is located and you did not contact our Fire Marshal's office to put copies of the new keys in the box, you run the risk of forcible entry damage and/or delayed fire extinguishment.

Please contact the Fire Marshal's office at 203-484-6016 to advise them if you need to have your Knox locked key box opened so that new/different keys need to be added or other important information (e.g. alarm codes) have been changed. They will also be able to assist you if you currently do not have a locked key box, but would like to install one.
